

VLORIKA RUKAJ

MSC

BIO

MSc Vlorika Rukaj has been graduated from the Faculty of Social Sciences in the Psychology at the University of Tirana in 2012-2015 and as a Master of Science in Organizational Psychology in 2018-2020 at the University of Tirana.

For years she has been practicing her profession as an Organizational Psychologist in foreign and Albanian companies. She currently holds the position of Human Resources Specialist at Barleti University, with the desire to combine her passion, knowledge, skills and several years of professional experience in this field.

M.Sc Rukaj has participated in various national and international trainings in the field of General Psychology and Organizational Psychology, working closely with European Commission projects. She is the co-author of several articles in international scientific journals related to the topics of organizational psychology.

Focused already for years on the Human Resources department, with the will for a more effective management, including and supporting diversity, innovation and valuing the most important asset in any business, human resources, i.e. people.

CAREER OVERVIEW

- Human Resources Specialist

FIELDS OF EXPERTISE

- Industrial and Organizational Psychology
- Human Resources

EMAIL

v.rukaj@umb.edu.al